

Behaviour & Dismissal Policy

At JamFit Energy Studio, our priority is to provide a safe, respectful, and positive environment for every jammer. To ensure the well-being and enjoyment of all participants, we reserve the right to remove any participant from classes or camps if their behavior is excessively disruptive or inappropriate.

Behaviors that may result in dismissal include, but are not limited to:

- Acts of violence or physical aggression toward others
- Biting and/or spitting
- Pushing or shoving
- Disrespecting another person's belongings or personal space
- Not following activity rules (e.g., repeatedly cutting in line, refusing to share space/equipment, refusing to stay with their group or in designated areas)
- Repeated disobedience or defiance toward staff instructions
- Bullying, intimidation, or harassment
- Use of inappropriate or offensive language
- Theft or stealing
- Misuse or abuse of equipment
- Vandalism or intentional damage to property
- Not being fully potty-trained

If a participant is removed for any of the above reasons, a credit for the remaining classes or camp days will be applied to the family's account. Please note that JamFit Energy Studio does not offer refunds.
